

SAT Experience and Learning of WV Bangladesh

Proshanto Ranjan Sharma Roy

World Vision

Bangladesh

WATER
&
WASH 2023
FUTURES

Achieving SDG6 in a Changing Climate

#WaWF23

Found useful

---

- SAT tool is process oriented and easy to facilitate in a logic.
- Collective consultation process which support to validation of score and evidence
- Participants can identify and understand the strength, improvement areas and next course of action for overcoming for the project and organization.
- SAT workshop is played as a mirror to look back the current situation and expected goal

Helped team, organization to strengthen GEDSI transformative practice

---

- Tool is used for review project and organization in GEDSI lens
- Refreshed the concept of staffs on GEDSI indicators
- Identified the areas and take action for further improvement
- Excelled the process of inclusion within program and organization
- WVB develop GEDSI strategy and action plan

Evidence at community level

---

Increasing awareness and understanding of men and boys about:

- The burden placed on women and girls from traditional WASH roles
- The challenges women and girls face as a result of menstruation and lack of access to sanitation facilities and materials

Encourage and nudge men and boys to:

- Share WASH related workloads
- Influence others in their communities about gender and social norms that impact on women, girls and marginalised people

Komolesh carrying out domestic chores.
Photo Credit - Nilima Das, Union Facilitator,
Satkhira (World Vision Bangladesh)

“

“Changing myself was not easy and it did not happen overnight. While attending the Men Care sessions, I realized that I never acknowledged the huge responsibilities my wife bears alone for our family.”

Komolesh, Satkhira, Bangladesh

“This is the tool of inclusion and empowerment . It’s helped to realize the necessity and importance for looking the program and organization in GEDSI lens.”

Buli Hagidok, Director – Integrated Thematic Solution

Thank You

